Blackalls Park, 1954

Newcastle Morning Herald

Australian summer holidays are often spent near or in the water. Many lakes have enclosed areas for children to swim in. Do you have memories of playing in a lake? Can you recall what the bottom of the lake felt like. Was it sandy or weedy or stony underfoot?

How did it feel to swim in the water? Was it freshwater or a lake fed by the sea? Do you have memories of the people you were with when you visited a lake?
